

Translation and Interpreting Studies (TIS)

Volume 6, Issue 2 (Spring 2011)

Special issue: Eurocentrism and the Americas in Translation Studies

Edited by Luc van Doorslaer and Peter Flynn

Table of Contents

Introduction

On constructing continental views on translation studies: An introduction

Peter Flynn and Luc van Doorslaer

Articles

Macro- and micro-turns in translation studies

Edwin Gentzler

Continentalism and the invention of traditions in translation studies

Dirk Delabastita

How eurocentric is Europe? Examining scholars' and translators' contributions to translation studies — an ethnographic perspective

Peter Flynn

Beyond “Eurocentrism”? The challenge of linguistic justice theory to translation studies

Michael Boyden

The representation of agents of translation in (South) Africa: Encountering Gentzler and Madonella

Kobus Marais

On fictional turns, fictionalizing twists and the invention of the Americas

Roberto A. Valdeon

(More than) American prisms on eurocentrism: An interview article

Luc van Doorslaer

Notes on contributors